Jan Hofman has never scored less than 80% in an English test and his spoken English is amazing. But Jan hasn't had extra English classes at school and he hasn't read an English dictionary. In fact, Jan spends at least three hours a day playing a game online. What's his secret? Why is Jan so brilliant at English? His secret is TSL – Teen Second Life.

TSL is a virtual world for thirteen to seventeen-year-olds and it's free to join. In TSL, teenagers from around the world have their own avatar. Avatars can go shopping and spend money – 'Linden dollars' – in the shops. They can make friends and play sports. They can even join a band and play music!

How has TSL helped Jan Hofman to improve his English? 'There are a lot of places in TSL where you can improve your English,' explains Jan. 'The British Council has got a special island in TSL and I've spent most of my time there. They don't give English lessons, but there are games and competitions in English. I also like the Global Kids island, where I've learnt a lot about social and world problems, all in English. The best thing about TSL is simply chatting. I love messaging players from other countries. I think anyone who wants to practise their English should log on to TSL!'

ABC broadcast the first episode of Lost in 2004. The series started with a scene on a flight from Sydney, Australia, to Los Angeles, USA. The plane was flying over the Pacific Ocean when, suddenly, it crashed. There were 324 passengers on the plane and everybody thought they were dead. But in the mysterious world of Lost, 48 passengers survived.

The survivors landed on a small island and they worked together to find food. Every day, they waited for a ship or a plane, but help never arrived. While they were living on the island, they had a lot of scary experiences. In one episode, the survivors were walking in the jungle when they saw a huge polar bear. They discovered that other people were living on the island, but 'the Others' weren't friendly.

There was a flashback in every episode. These showed what the characters were doing before the plane crashed. One of the most interesting characters was the American doctor and leader of the group, Jack (played by Matthew Fox). The flashbacks explained a lot about the characters, but the island kept its secrets.

Audiences loved Lost because the plot was very unusual. The island was still a mystery when the series ended, after 114 episodes, in 2010.
